

Wednesday's Wisdom

a weekly short note from Mike Minear

Refuge in God Part 2

Earlier this month I wrote how we must never forget that He is with us. With all that is happening in the world now I feel that it is very important that we constantly remind ourselves that there is a bigger picture, and that if we walk with Him throughout our lives, we can know that we will walk with Him throughout eternity. This last Sunday night I passed out during our Sunday night service that we had devoted mostly to prayer. I guess I gave everyone a pretty good scare, especially Dolores. She said she was sure I had passed on, because she could not feel a pulse and I had lost all my color. After spending a couple of days in the hospital, I have had some time to reflect on my own mortality, and am very thankful for each day that God grants me on this earth, and hope that I spend what time I have left wisely, in his service.

In Part 1 I listed several songs that emphasize our constant need of our Lord. Here is a poem written by Betty Smythe, a preacher's wife in the L.A. area.

I Met My Lord

*I met my Lord in life, as I walked life's lonely road.
 I met Him as he willingly helped carry my heavy load.
 I met my Lord each day, as I humbly knelt down to pray.
 I met Him when I was lost and could not find my way.
 I met Him when I was lost and could not find my way.
 I met my Lord at the water's edge, at the river's flowing tide.
 I met Him as I gave my life to stay close by His side.
 I met my Lord in the final hours of life here on this earth.
 I met Him when He claimed me and gave me my new birth.
 I met my Lord in Heaven as I sat near by His feet.
 I met Him daily as I walked on Heaven's golden streets.*
